WHAT IS BOTTARGA?

A beautiful golden powder that reminds one of the scent of sea water. This amber-colored nectar is a gift to food lovers from Mother Nature. It is made of the thousands of eggs in the female mullet roe sacks – it is one of the tastiest Sardinian foods. The roe is salted, pressed and left to dry. Grated or thinly sliced, bottarga is a delicacy on spaghetti, risotto, malloreddus (Sardinian pasta) and Fregola Sarda. It's delicious with garlic and parsley. And as a mouthwatering appetizer sliced thinly. Available whole and grated in jars. The grated is aged slightly longer and the drier texture is perfect over pasta dishes!
